Skill development prog held

YINGKIONG, Jan 7: A skill development programme for registered building & other construction workers was held at the Multipurpose Hall, Yingkiong on January 5 which was inaugurated by CO Philip Jerang.

The CO stated that it's a golden opportunity for registered workers to enhance their skills through this skill develvavidyalay, Raipur were the external experts.

The main objective of the selection committee is to select good general nature, reference print books, e-resources from various renowned publishers and aggregators of national and international repute.

Prof Kushwaha has idea of opening a separate community Library section enriching collection of children and women recreational books for the use of campus women folks and their children so that the parents can bring their kids and inculcate in them the best reading habits and visiting of Libraries in their initial stages.

He himself personally selected some good books from reputed publishers and book vendors while recalling his school days as a voracious reader.

In this WBF there's also a book release by the VC titled "Philosophy of Indian culture" in three volumes published by Kitabwale Delhi and written by Dr Diwakar, former IPS.

Dr Diwakar did his PhD from Lalit Narayan Mithila University Darbhanga where Prof Kushwaha was Vice Chancellor from 2014 to 2017. It was a pleasant reunion of the author and the chief guest.
